

The world's first collegiate business school—advancing new ideas and leaders for more than 125 years.

At Wharton, we've been changing the future of business since 1881.

The largest business school faculty— with more expertise across more areas than at any other business school—our professors generate the new ideas that drive business growth and public policy around the world. They bring the same entrepreneurial spirit to learning, pioneering new technologies, research areas, academic programs, and teaching methods.

We engage directly with global business and government leaders, bridging research and practice and training generations of new leaders to put knowledge to work.

The most comprehensive source of business knowledge in the world, we offer:

- Leading programs at every level of business education
From high school students to senior executives
- 200+ courses and 25+ research centers and initiatives
More breadth and depth than at any other business school
- 250+ faculty across 11 departments
Largest, most published, most cited business school faculty
- 1,000+ organizations directly engaged with Wharton
High-level businesses, non-profits, and government agencies
- 84,000+ graduates in 140 countries
Largest alumni network of any global business school
- 1,000,000+ worldwide readers of Knowledge@Wharton
With Indian, Chinese, Spanish and Portuguese editions

- 1881 First business school at a university
- 1921 First business school research center
- 1953 First executive education program
- 1970 First MBA health care management program
- 1973 First entrepreneurship center
- 1978 First joint degree in management & technology
- 1983 First joint MBA/international studies program
- 1988 First business school offices in Europe and Asia
- 1994 First undergraduate global business program
- 2003 First doctoral program in ethics and legal studies
- 2007 1M+ subscribers to Knowledge@Wharton

Wharton
UNIVERSITY of PENNSYLVANIA

